6. Write a story on the moral lesson: (10)
Do good, have good. OR Look before you leap.

Ans

Do good, have good

For Answer see Paper 2015 (Group-I); Q.6.

OR

Look before you leap

Once a fox fell into a well. He did not know how to come out. Suddenly, he heard the voice of a goat. He called it. The goat peeped into the well. It asked him what he was doing there. The fox said, "The water is very sweet and cold. I daily come here and have a bath." He invited the goat to have a drink. The goat was very thirsty. It jumped into the well. The fox came out of the well with its (goats') help. Now the goat realized its folly. It requested the fox to help it. But the fox said, "you should have looked before you leap into the well. Now drink cold water and enjoy yourself."

Moral:

Look before you leap.

Haste makes waste.

7.(a) Explain the following lines with reference to the context: (5)

In the farm she passes; no one wakes,
But a jug in a bedroom gently shakes.

Ans Reference:

These lines have been taken from the poem "Night Mail" by W.H. Auden.

Context:

The poet admires the Night Mail in this poem. He says that it brings luxury, ease and comfort in our lives. It has human characteristics as it treats both the rich and the poor alike. It carries cheques, postal orders and letters for everyone. We have become immune to it as it is no more a curious thing even for birds and animals.

Explanation:

In these lines, the poet says that some animals like sheep-dogs are conscious of the glaring fact that they are unable to affect the journey of the railway carriages in any way. Realizing the reality that they have nothing to do with this monstrous phenomenon, they do not move, remain in the same posture and keep on enjoying their sleep with crossed legs. But it does not mean that nothing is affected by the railway vehicles crossing the fields and farms. Many petty things like a jug in a bedroom shake when they pass through the farms and countryside.

8. Translate the following passage into Urdu. (Short Stories Book-I): (15)

The door opened and Jim stepped in. He looked very thin and he was not smiling. Poor fellow, he was only twenty-two -- and with a family to take care of! He needed a new coat and he had nothing to cover his cold hands. Jim stopped inside the door. He was as quiet as a hunting dog when it is near a bird. His eyes looked strangely at Della, and there was an expression in them that she could not understand. It filled her with fear. It was not anger, nor surprise, nor anything else she had been ready for. He simply looked at her with a strange expression on his face.

ترجمہ:

دروازہ کھلا اور جم نے قدم اندر رکھا۔ وہ بہت دبلا دکھائی دیا اور مسکرا بھی نہیں رہا تھا۔ وہ بے چارہ شخص صرف بائیس سال کا تھا جب کہ اس کا ایک کنبہ تھا جس کی کفالت اس کے ذمہ تھی۔ اسے ایک نئے کوٹ کی ضرورت تھی اور اس کے پاس اپنے منہ ہاتھوں کو ڈھانپنے کے لیے کچھ بھی نہ تھا۔ جم دروازے کے اندر ہی رکت گیا۔ وہ اس طرح خاموش تھا جیسے ایک شکاری کتا اس وقت ہوتا ہے جب وہ کسی پرندے کے قریب ہو۔ اس کی نگاہوں نے عجیب انداز سے ڈیلا کی جانب دیکھا اور ان میں ایک ایسا تاثر تھا جسے وہ سمجھ نہ سکی۔ اس نے اسے خوف میں مبتلا کر دیا۔ یہ غصہ نہیں تھا نہ حیرانی تھی نہ ہی کوئی ایسی شے جس کے لیے وہ تیار ہوتی رہی تھی۔ اس نے محض اس کی جانب چہرے پر ایک عجیب و غریب تاثر لیے ہوئے دیکھا۔

8. Candidates whose medium of Examination is English will write an essay on "Energy Crisis in Pakistan". (15)

Ans

Energy Crisis in Pakistan

Energy has played a far more important role in human affairs than merely as a source of light, heat or motion. It is still destined to play a pivotal role in the development of three-fourth of mankind; the great majority of which is barely subsisting the people who have been stamped with misery and their future is bleaked with despair. One of the important indicators of their underdevelopment is the highly inequitable distribution of energy use.

Energy is that ability by which non-living bodies work like living bodies. So in any sector, whether it is domestic, industrial or agricultural, the economic prosperity demands a strong infrastructure and energy is the most vital ingredient of this infrastructure.

Pakistan is a developing country and is, in fact, on the lower rank of the development ladder with a literacy rate of 58 percent, an average life expectancy of 61 years and per capita income a little over 1190 U.S Dollars. A large majority of population is without access to safe drinking water. The major cause of its backwardness is that it has not enough energy resources to meet its energy demand.

Pakistan's low level of development and industrialization is in large part due to this low level of energy resources. So large energy import dependence is due to its poor energy resources base. The energy demand is growing but the sources are inadequate for future development and growth. These are the problems and challenges, which have to be met in future.

Every year, the demand is increasing at the rate of 13 percent and production is increasing at the rate of only 7 percent. At present, WAPDA is producing electricity from hydel and thermal units with the ratio of 48.50 percent and 52.50 percent, respectively.

Any energy crisis is a great hurdle in the supply of energy resources to an economy. The energy crisis is caused by various factors, first of all, the gap between supply and demand is the biggest obstacle. Currently 22,000 megawatts of electricity is being produced which is nearly only 87% of the nation's demand.
